Our Story

I grew up on the reserve, my name is Yvonne Billingsley (Freeman) and I am a proud band member of the Driftpile Cree Nation located by Slave Lake in Northern Alberta. My family are also members of and all descend from Driftpile, including my mother and father and their mothers and fathers before them and so on. My Grandfather was well-known for being a 'Great Hunter' (Big Dan, Man of the North) My great Uncle was a 'Medicine Man' and two of my brothers became 'Warriors'. Driftpile is where they still reside today.

Growing up, our reserve offered programs to the youth, I learned the importance of staying connected to our traditional culture. I was able to attend many conferences across Western Canada that held 'Round Dances' signifying a social celebration or serving as a ceremonial healing purpose. I have been fortunate to listen to and learn from great stories told by our Elders and story-telling Speakers.

As reserves are often limited in education and opportunity, I knew that I wanted more for my family and wanted to give back to the community that had given me everything. I moved off of the reserve to further my education, met my husband (Calvin) who was adopted but was not familiar with his indigenous culture. I have since then helped him to learn and appreciate his cultural background. Together, we have had our own family and have become 'specialized' Foster Parents to children from our similar backgrounds, teaching them and practicing their traditional cultures and keeping us connected to our roots.

Calvin started with HD Oilfield Rentals in 2012 and has remained there since. With that stability, it has created opportunity for us to take the next logical step and start our own Cree Logic Ltd. partnership with Wolverine Energy and Infrastructure Inc., offering our services to all businesses under the Wolverine umbrella.

Wolverine's Mission

"Our company aims to provide the best possible experience for our clients, contractors, and employees every time. We do this with exceptional training that delivers the highest quality of service to our clients and a safe work environment for our employees. We strive to build mutually beneficial relationships with all of our clients, communities and staff."

Indigenous Relations & Engagement

Our Vision

Wolverine Energy and Infrastructure Inc. aspires to be the company of choice for its employees, stakeholders and investors, including Canada's Indigenous people. With many locations throughout Western Canada, we believe in being a part of the community we work in. Wolverine supports and encourages opportunities for employment, development of relationships and sourcing of local indigenous owned businesses to provide services in support of our workforce and the communities we are servicing.

Our Approach

We strive to provide consistent service, reliability and ingenuity by actively providing the best possible experience for our clients, employees, suppliers, contractors and stakeholders. We are always looking for better technology and other advancements that will help us to be more productive and efficient without compromising our service and quality which includes implementing a universal respect for collaborating with Indigenous peoples and their communities to build long-term mutually beneficial relationships.

Our Commitment

Led by our Senior Leadership team with training and evaluations delivered outward to the field, our progress will be measured and evaluated on an annual basis to measure the effectiveness of our current policy. By investing in training and development, all of our employees, including Indigenous employees, they are able to rise through different levels of employment within our organization, retaining them as valuable core members of our business.

Our Responsibility

We see the earth as a gift given to us in trust from previous generations to hold for future generations. That's why we're not only committed to providing a workplace for our employees that is safe and rewarding; but doing so in an environmentally responsible manner.

We believe that our communities prosper by working together with open communication and mutual respect for the land, environment and traditional ways of the Indigenous people. Wolverine does not discriminate in business opportunities or practices based on race, color, religion, gender, national origin, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, veteran status or any other characteristic protected by federal, provincial or municipal law.

Implementation

Wolverine Energy & Infrastructure expects to engage our customers and subcontractors to share our Vision, Approach, Commitment, Responsibility and Implementation principles. We will encourage them to meet our standard or exceed them through policies and practices of their own. We are committed to progressively moving forward with industry standard training and education with our potential candidates in a manner that is inclusive to the Aboriginal people.

Proud to be an active member of the Canadian Council for Aboriginal Business
